Background

David's professional career highlights the intersections of business, technology, education and innovation.

David is a regular guest lecturer at the Ivey School of Business, a TEDx speaker, and a seasoned Agile practitioner. He has significant "in-the-trenches" experience using Agile and Lean methods with design & development teams – including Scrum, Kanban, LeanUX, and OpenAgile. David brings the expertise necessary to cultivate a high-performing work environment.

David is committed to helping transform people, process and culture in organizations.

Experience Summary

Over 22 years of experience in software development

Over 18 years in coaching and public-speaking

Over 20 years helping projects succeed

Over 8 years experience helping teams adopt Scrum and other Agile methods

As an Agile transformation consultant, David provides organizational expertise and practical recommendations at the senior leadership level. In past engagements this has resulted in teams displaying improved technical practice, performance, quality, and productivity. David's assistance has led to successful product management and project delivery.

David regularly delivers BERTEIG 'Kanban: Measurable Improvement for Business' and 'Introduction to Agile Software Development training', both in-house for clients and in public scheduled workshops.
